

I think cable broadband is a good idea. I have it now and like it. What I don't like and find increasingly irritating is the fact that it costs me an extra 10 dollars a month because I don't also subscribe to the cable companies TV offering. What this means is that I have to pay $10.00 a month or $120.00 dollars a year to NOT watch TV. This has got to be against the law somehow. What if you went to your neighborhood store and bought a 6 pack of Guinness which was $7.00 but had to pay $10.00 for it unless you also bought a 4 dollar bottle of some cheap wine.
